New File Delivery System

NASDAQ OMX is about to launch a new File Delivery System (FDS) on Monday May 25th, 2009. The new system will replace the existing FDS service.

Most of the functionality in the new FDS service will work in the same way as in the current system. From customer systems point of view, the only mandatory change will be that all the URLs used with the current system will have to be switched to those of the new system. All the new URLs, both for the test and production systems, along with the other technical guidelines will be published on our extranet web pages on Monday April 20th, see <http://nordic.nasdaqomxtrader.com/marketdata/reports/>

The external test system containing production like files is up and running already today, and the parallel production (i.e. the same files will be available in both the old and new system) will start on Monday April 27th.

OrderbookSummary in Post Trade for Danish fixed income market

From June 8th, 2009, OrderbookSummary and InstrumentSummary messages for each orderbook on the Danish Fixed Income market will be sent when entering the state Post Trade at ~17.20 CET. This is the time when the closing values have been available for the Danish fixed income markets prior to the GCF 2.0 release on February 2nd. With the GCF 2.0.1 release on June 8th the official closing price will be available before the time that they are today disseminated at ~18 CET.

The functionality is available for test in GCF3.

NASDAQ OMX to distribute Commodities (“Nord Pool”) data in GCF

On June 8th, 2009, NASDAQ OMX Commodities data will be distributed through GENIUM Consolidated Feed. The data will cover the Nordic, German and Dutch power markets, and the market for carbon products (EUA, European Union Allowances, and CER, Certified Emission Reductions). This data is already today available in the test systems GCF2 and GCF3 (Production data in GCF3). More information, including technical details, will be sent out in future Global Data Products weekly newsletters.
